TUESDAY MORNING, NOV. 29, 1864.

An English Opinion.

[illegible] at a time when the English press [illegible] McClellan, [illegible] our [illegible] contemporary [illegible] enlightened a view of our [illegible] affairs, and [illegible] just a comment on the issue of the late Presidential election as we find in the issue of that journal dated November [illegible]. Speaking of the reelection of Mr. Lincoln, it says:

Never before has the election of a President, or even the coronation of a king, been of so much importance to the political and commercial condition of civilized nations: for on the prolongation or cessation of the American war depends the great question of human slavery, and the continuation or disruption of a thousand channels of commerce which the hostilities between North and South have brought into being, as well as the prolonged stagnation or the resuscitation of that trade which the war has done so much to extinguish. Abraham Lincoln is elected. The Republican party has achieved another triumph and the pro-slavery [illegible] has sustained an overwhelming defeat. We look on the result, however, in a higher light than the mere victory of one class of American politicians over the other. It is the triumph after the most trying ordeal through which a nation could pass, of principles in which the whole human race is interested.

Defending the public opinion of the English people from a judgment to be rendered against it for the course pursued by certain prominent English journals, it says:

As Englishmen, who have not forgotten the name of Wilberforce, we cannot subscribe to the disreputable course which has found so earnest an advocacy in the most powerful of English journals, and which aims at forcing slavery [illegible] once more into the American cabinet. With all the power of the Times, however, and all its foresight, its judgment has been, as usual on American affairs, at fault, and it is left for the hundredth time, to reflect on the falsity of its prognostications.

It is most gratifying to have such a just appreciation of the principles of our party as the [illegible] accords us, and we quote from it as follows:

In a Republican triumph we have a triumph of enlightenment over ignorance, and respectability over [illegible]. Day by day we observe the civilizing results from Republican ascendancy. We hear no more of the bowie knife and the pistol, the gouging and the sword-caning in the Halls of Congress; but earnest debates, devoid of personal abuse and violent vulgarity. If the war, with all its horrors, only achieved this great moral, social and political transformation of the people, there are many philanthropists in the old world, as well as the new, who would assert that the blood has not been shed in vain.

A grand instance of the self restraint of a free people never exalted the page of history. If despots in Europe, with antiquated dogmas, expected this last great strain on free institutions to break them down—if they believed that there were emergencies in which the failure of popular [illegible] forcibly [illegible] gency has yet to be invented.

Abraham Lincoln is elected, and desolating war sweeps on, mowing down the youth and the strength of the nation, as if the last great gathering of the harvest had set in. No person with ordinary feelings of humanity can witness the carnage and the destruction of property with anything but horror; yet since the war is for a principle dear to every man as life itself, the onslaught must continue until the South cries out peccavi. There is no more hope for the Confederacy in political dissension North. They see before them the dread alternative of fighting until exhaustion stops and ends the bloody drama. They now know that the North is as determined as themselves, as brave as themselves, and willing to face all the ruinous self sacrifices which they in their heroism have encountered; and they also know that while they with limited means are becoming gradually exhausted, the giant of the North is putting forth every day new powers and increased energies. There was some plausibility in the cry once that Lincoln had overridden the Constitution.

The people by returning Lincoln have endorsed his acts, and have voluntarily and virtually placed themselves at his disposal. There is therefore no hope for the Confederacy but long and continued success in the field, and that even its warmest friends cannot attempt to guarantee. We do not think, however, the South will much longer persist; it can still obtain terms from the North—terms that will restore its desolated fields and its deserted towns to something like their former condition. Slavery is the only stumbling block; and that the Confederates must see themselves, is doomed, even while they fight for it. Let us hope that as the first election of Lincoln inaugurated civil war, the second may bring forth the reign of peace.

Democratic Journals.—The Louisville Journal endorsed McClellan and opposed the election of Mr. Lincoln bitterly enough, Heaven knows, but still Mr. Prentice, though born, raised and editing a paper in Kentucky could be to much advantage studied as an editor, by Northern opposition papers. From the earliest days of secession, Mr. Prentice has condemned and opposed the rebellion and pursued its leaders and its generals with his editorial vengeance with perfect consistency; and now, while the Northern papers who [illegible] McClellan [illegible] to denounce and [illegible] the Administration, and [illegible] federal victories, we [illegible] the [illegible] of the Louisville Journal with the [illegible] he opposes Lincoln [illegible] every Federal victory achieved carries pleasure to his heart and is [illegible] in his columns.

Now [illegible] between the Louisville [illegible] and the Copperhead journals North [illegible] always [illegible] between Southern [illegible] and Northern Doughfaces [illegible] improvement we can [illegible] of our opponents is [illegible] the [illegible] of Kentucky, even if they do not care to imitate it.

Account of the Raid on St. Alban's, Vermont, by an Eye-witness.

The [illegible] New York [illegible] account of the raid on [illegible] St. Albans by an eye-witness of the transaction:

THE STEALTHY ARRIVAL.

Some strangers came to board at the American Hotel and the Tremont, in St. Albans, [illegible] them calling himself [illegible] prominent one among them. He was [illegible] the party [illegible] States [illegible] the [illegible] There seemed to be [illegible] each other [illegible] the [illegible] town of St. Albans [illegible] the Canada line. On Tuesday night, the [illegible] ers on the village were [illegible] new faces appeared at the breakfast table of the hotels. On Wednesday morning [illegible] of conspirators arrived [illegible] had collected. And [illegible] the plot was [illegible] execution.

[illegible]

At three o'clock P. M. on Wednesday, [illegible] St. Albans was in a state of apparent quiet common to New England towns. Our informant, [illegible] Baldwin, was standing on the steps of the American Hotel, just as the town bell rang out the hour of three o'clock, when he saw a man coming out of the door of the First National Bank, and as he did so a citizen on the steps knocked him down. A second was also [illegible] but the third raider had a pistol in his hand and the citizen retreated. Several men appeared to be rushing about with pistols, in parties of four or five together. One of these gangs met a Mr. Morrison, and presented a weapon at him, demanding his surrender. He answered, "You are [illegible] boys." They fired, and he fell weltering in his blood. Our informant saw him throw up his hands and then sink on the ground, and he realized for the first time that the village was attacked by an organized body of men, bent on pillage and regardless of human life.

BANKS ROBBED—PEOPLE SHOT.

The attack had been simultaneous on the three banks—the First National, Franklin County, and St. Alban's. Parties entered each. When the Teller or Cashier, suspecting no evil, asked what they desired, the leader presented a pistol with the exclamation—"You are my prisoner. If you move an inch, we'll blow you through." Others of the gang then went to the vault and drawers, and laid violent hands on all the specie, bills, and other articles which they could find, and filled the sole satchels which each wore, as before described. At the Franklin County Bank the raiders pushed the Cashier, Mr. Beardsley, and one of the clerks, into the vault, and locked them up, and the prisoners were not released until late in the night.

A REIGN OF TERROR.

Then commenced the reign of terror in the village. Plunder had been accomplished, and revenge followed. The thirty or more marauders rushed up and down the streets firing their pistols in every direction. Whenever they saw a citizen or group of men, they would aim in that direction. They had magnificent arms—seven-shooters—and as fast as one weapon was unloaded, they drew another and kept up the fusilade. There was a continuous bang! bang! bang! Of course their reckless use of fire-arms could not continue long with nobody hurt. The Sheriff of the county soon fell; Mr. Huntington was shot while resisting the robbery of his store; a woman, whose name we did not learn fell, and, more dastardly than all, as the guerrillas were leaving the town, they saw a little girl in the street, and wantonly killed her. And the bullets were flying up and among the buildings in the main street, nearly all of which bear marks of lead. Windows were broken, blinds chipped and people wounded. It was a scene that beggars all description.

THE "CHIVALRY" AS HORSE-THIEVES.

Of course, the entire population rushed into the streets. They were engaged in their daily avocations, and the raid was "like thunder from a clear sky." The guerrillas, as they rushed through the town, stopped all the citizens they met and gathered them in squads under guard of a few men on the common, [illegible] retaining them as prisoners, [illegible] started to secure horses. They took two from Field's livery stable, five from Fuller's, [illegible] from the American and Tremont stables, [illegible] span from Mr. Clark, of Rutland—securing about thirty in all. The contents of the saddle-makers' shops soon enabled the villains to become cavalry instead of foot-pads.

THREATS OF THE "CONFEDERATES."

Their threats were terrible. "We will burn your d—d town." "We will treat you as the people of Atlanta were treated." They also said, "We are coming back again, and will burn every town in Vermont." They all looked like Americans, and Southerners at that. These demons continued their infernal pistol firing—killing a man named Morse after they began to take prisoners.

THE RETREAT.

The guerrillas having all secured horses and saddles, commenced their retreat. They abandoned the prisoners and rode off northward firing their pistols as they proceeded.

PURSUIT.

When the villagers became thoroughly aroused to what had happened, they acted in a manner worthy of their Green Mountain sires of the Revolution. Eight men started in swift pursuit—twenty more followed in half an hour. People seized guns, pistols, cutlasses and clubs, and came out into the streets. Stores were closed—business suspended. Everybody was wild with excitement. Telegrams were sent to Montpelier, and the citizens made preparations for home defence.

THE AUTHORITIES AROUSED.

The Legislature, which was in session at Montpelier, and the Governor, received dispatches from St. Alban's at 5 o'clock announcing the raid. The former appointed a committee; the latter ordered two thousand stand of arms from the arsenal at Vergennes, and sent one hundred veteran reserves from Burlington; Col. [illegible] and one hundred volunteers from Burlington and one hundred [illegible] firemen from Brattleboro. Gen. Dix, at New York, was communicated with and gave orders for prompt pursuit.

VERMONT UNDER ARMS.

"At Burlington the citizens were on guard to protect the town. They refused to allow the Lake boat [illegible] to land last night until they found out whether rebels or [illegible] Flag commanded her. During the afternoon, when the raid was telegraphed, the steamer "[illegible] up" at Rouse's Point, and ran out into the lake, where she anchored, as a measure of precaution. At St. Alban's, "martial law" prevailed last night.

THE VERMONT RAID AND LORD MONCK.

We are glad to see that the hope we expressed yesterday as to the action of the Governor General and other British authorities in Canada [illegible] reference to the parties who entered Vermont on Wednesday, is already realized. The leaders and others of the bandits have been caught, and a good portion of their plunder recovered, through the exertions of the [illegible] citizens of Vermont who seem to have pursued them [illegible] and who received the most active cooperation of all the British authorities. Half a dozen of the raiders have been lodged in a Canadian jail to await a requisition from the American authorities. The Governor General promptly telegraphed that he will respond to a requisition for their surrender. Lord Monck, we are told, in all his communication on the subject, exhibited an interest equal to that of the people of Vermont to have the murderers brought to speedy retribution.

[illegible] St. Louis [illegible] The Atlanta correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial says:

[illegible] I was sent through the City Cemetery among the dead [illegible] the spot where rests the [illegible] a [illegible] Southern matron and [illegible] The ground comprises [illegible] ten acres, more than half of which is covered with the victims of war, [illegible] hundreds of officers and privates all crowded together so closely that their coffins must touch each other. The part used as the rebel burying ground is about four acres, and all the graves [illegible] At least eight or ten thousand dead must sleep in those narrow trenches. [illegible] the plot set apart for deceased Federal prisoners, and, halting, I read [illegible] many names of families from Maine and Nebraska, and remembered that at home in the great North there are scores of [illegible] who know not where their dear ones sleep, I felt that an hour could not be better spent than in deciphering the almost obliterated pencil marks on the slabs. [illegible] graves had the names inscribed, [illegible] the tender sensibilities of the friends of the dead who lay there awaiting the resurrection which [illegible]

A [illegible]—A San Francisco paper relates the following:

In the vicinity of South Park dwells a couple united in every sentiment but one, happy in all respects but [illegible] that the wife wears the wreath of victory. She is a Lincoln and Johnson woman; he thought the diminutive grave-digger of the Chickahominy ought to be President, and declared his intention to vote for him. The wife as loudly asserted that if he did, she would leave [illegible] resolution, and she determined to release herself by preventing her husband from voting either way; so on the morning of election, before he rose, she took all of his clothes and hid them away at a neighbor's house, and the McClellan husband was compelled to remain in bed all day, or sit up with the sheets and blankets wrapped about him. In vain did he plead for his pantaloons and his party. Useless were all his arguments for his candidate, and the importance of his own elective franchise. A Copperhead, he tried to cajole and bribe her, but it was impossible. [illegible] and laughed all day [illegible] until the sun had set and the polls were closed, when she gave him his garments and let him go. The women [illegible] a gold medal for her successful strategy. It is [illegible] that the husband might maintain an action for divorce, on the ground of extreme cruelty.

Among the bounty jumpers recently executed at Alexandria, Va., was one whose burial [illegible] seems to be without precedent. Just before his execution, he sent to the officer of the guard, requesting the attendance of a chaplain, stating, with an oath, that he cared nothing for the chaplain, but as the regulations provided it, he thought he had better enjoy the privilege. A few hours after he wrote a will, bequeathing about $20,000, giving to his guard $100 apiece for their kindness to him, and remembering to an equal extent a number of others connected with his place of confinement. The officer of the guard was appointed executor, went to New Jersey, to carry out the provisions of the will, and found the prisoner to have [illegible] without [illegible] for any indication of [illegible]

WHERE [illegible] — [illegible] question [illegible] considered by the [illegible] of our city who are dependent upon the gas works for the light that illuminates their place of business by night, [illegible] and [illegible] street, [illegible] the [illegible] manufacture [illegible] have [illegible] found our [illegible] is very much [illegible] a [illegible] could [illegible] of its manufacture [illegible] All [illegible] such as [illegible] which is [illegible] matters. The [illegible] called the Retorts, which are built [illegible] into furnaces, in such manner [illegible] completely around them. The [illegible] every four or six hours with coal, which becomes coke, after the heat of the furnace has acted upon it in separating the ingredients from each other, at which time the [illegible] through the exit-pipe [illegible] the mouth of the Retort, in the shape of dense vapor, and enter into a new series of combinations, giving rise not only to the manufacture of [illegible] gas, but at the same time to a variety of other products, water, naptha, ammonia, acid, etc. [illegible] from the Retort the vapors are forced into the Washers, and the Condensers, and being subject to a process of cooling, and extracting of impurities, and then the [illegible] descending direction of the apparatus, to the air cistern they collect in it, and are pumped off as occasion requires. The last process of freeing the gaseous matter of impurity before [illegible] the Station Meter, for measurement, consists in its passage through a chemical purifier, a succession of perforated trays, covered with thin layers of moistened lime, sand, etc., after which it has become solid purified gas, and is at once passed into the gas-meter, where it is stored for nightly uses, and distributed to the places of consumption through cast iron pipes, called street mains and service pipes. The Company have facilities for furnishing much more gas than they do at present.

THAT COMPLAINT.—Mr. Dolph, City Attorney, visited us last evening on the occasion of our remarks at the close of the comments on the case of Whitley yesterday morning. Our suggestions in the matter were well meaning, and not calculated to reflect in the least manner upon any officer, and we are pleased to have Mr. Dolph of the same opinion. Our purpose was merely to serve the public with a wish that complaints in such cases might be made about as direct as the testimony would stand, so that if the offender left disposed to accept of the plea Daily, he might not go off half-fledged. It is not our purpose to do any person injustice, whomsoever, and our only desire is that the ends of justice may be meted out in the same measure to all—community not excepted.

TRADE OF THE WILLAMETTE.—The steamer Senator, Capt. Kellogg, of the People's Transportation Company, arrived in this city yesterday from Milwaukie, where she has been laid up for several months past, looking as fine and trim as a new boat [illegible]. The Senator will take her place in the line, and with the steamer Rival, Capt. Baughman, after Thursday next we will have two steamers plying between Portland and Oregon City daily. The increase of business on the Willamette is in consequence of the rise in the river, which enable the boats above the Falls to do an extra amount of freighting, and there is plenty for them to do. The Rival last evening brought down over forty tons of produce.

RECORDER'S COURT.—The business of the Recorder's Court, which has been very pressing on Judge McCoy for some time past, was considerably augmented yesterday. In addition to several cases for violation of city ordinances, two suits on the part of the State were brought before the Judge, sitting as a Justice of the Peace. In the case of Wm. Fowlis, charged with larceny of $150 from Edward Cook, prisoner was remanded to custody of the Sheriff, for judgment this morning. The cause of the State vs. James Dobson, was in progress of trial up to a late hour last night.

THE TELEGRAPH LINE.—We have been without our regular dispatches from the East since Friday last, in consequence of the prevalence of storms on the southern extension of the line. Two breaks were repaired yesterday between Corvallis and Eugene, but the wire was again down beyond the latter place. Last evening communication was opened to Roseburg. The northern line worked through to Seattle yesterday, for the first since Thursday.

CIRCUIT COURT.—Motions and arguments occupied most of the time in Circuit Court yesterday morning. A jury acquitted Barney McKinney, on the charge of malicious assault. The motions in case of Bledsoe were deferred for another day. The suit of Wm. Alman vs. Richard Perkins, for damages for injuries sustained to the person of plaintiff, will be tried to-day.

ANTIQUATED BOOKS.—Mr. A. B. Richardson has received a consignment of antiquated books, which he will dispose of at auction this week. We notice among them Shakspeare's complete works, in eight volumes, published A. D. MDCCLXIII. The print is itself a representative of "the art," a century past, and the merit of the volumes consist in their preservation of that type. We are not advised as to whose ancient library they were formerly representatives of.

EUREKA THEATRE.—By reference to advertisement in another column it will be seen that the popular Minstrel Troupe, under the leadership of Mr. Frank Hussey, begin opening at Eureka Theatre, (formerly Denison's Opera House,) to-night. Frank is as good as he is popular, and vice versa, and has an excellent company of performers among which is Miss Julia Morgan, the celebrated danseuse, with which company he has made a very successful and a very profitable detour to Idaho, returning to enliven this city during the winter months.

A CITY FULL.—Portland was never so filled with people at any former time. The hotels and private boarding houses, and every lodging-house, appears to have more than its full quota. The rush is augmenting by every steamer from the upper country and by the next departure of a steamship for California passengers will [illegible] the score for berths.

CONFLAGRATION AT VANCOUVER.—The northern telegraph furnishes us with the facts of a calamity at Vancouver yesterday, resulting in the burning of a portion of the Orphan Asylum, at which two children were burned to death.

THE SIERRA NEVADA.—Operator Lyon, of the northern telegraph, informs us that a dispatch from the Olympia office that Victoria papers [illegible] received, give the sailing of the steamship Sierra Nevada for Portland, at [illegible] of that day.

WILLAMETTE THEATRE.—The [illegible] was produced with happy effect at this place of amusement last evening. To-night "Lady Eveline" forms the leading character of the programme.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS.—The Board of Commissioners for Multnomah county, will meet on Monday next, at the Court House in this city. This session will be the regular [illegible]

CHRISTIAN COMMISSION.—[illegible] Christian Commission at Trinity Church [illegible] Thanksgiving day [illegible]

AVERILL says in his farewell order to his cavalry division:

Since the first of May we have marched over 15,000 miles. Five hundred [illegible] fallen in twenty battles attest the devotion with which you have done your duty, and seven battle-flags, thirteen cannon and over [illegible] hundred prisoners captured from the enemy, exhibit some of the results of your work.

Le Doyen's Sarsaparilla, Yellow Dock AND IODINE ALTERATIVE is the only remedy for invigorating a debilitated and broken down constitution.—Persons of scrofulous habit, suffering from impure blood, nervous trembling, impaired digestion, liver disease, lost vitality, should give this great blood purifier a trial. All rheumatic diseases, constitutional complaints and organic affections are radically cured by a steady use of this medicine. oc18d3m

Allen's Lung Balsam is composed of Roots and Herbs, which has a specific action in relieving the matter of phlegm from the lungs and throat, thus relieving the cough, allaying the inflammation, and healing the irritated parts, which, if neglected, would soon lead to Consumption. For sale by

SMITH & DAVIS, Agents,
Portland, Oregon.

Also, by the Dealers in Family Medicines, generally.

"A Slight Cold," Coughs.—Few are aware of the importance of Checking a Cough or "SLIGHT COLD" in its first stage; that which in the beginning would yield to a mild remedy, if neglected, soon attacks the lungs.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" gives sure and almost immediate relief. Military Officers and Soldiers should have them, as they can be carried in the pocket and taken as occasion requires.

REDINGTON & CO., San Francisco, Agents for the Pacific Coast.

A Word to the Aged.—In the decline of life the loss of vital force consequent upon physical decay, can only be supplied by some vivifying preparation which recruits the strength and spirits, without entailing the exhaustion which always follows the use of ordinary stimulants. We tender to the aged

"A [illegible] representative in all respects. [illegible] full and entire authority!"

That was what Jack Clermont had said, as he [illegible] out of the carriage [illegible] his [illegible] of mine. Of course I understood the responsibilities were good but [illegible] I had never been in [illegible]. Still I had a sort of general idea that it was my [illegible] to afford every possible [illegible] to a young man who was going to [illegible] his sweetheart and fix the wedding day.

So I turned, with a sigh of resignation, away from the fresh, exhilirating air to the [illegible] which Jack denominated his office. On the whole, I felt as if I were an amiable sacrifice on the altar of disinterested friendship. So all day long I sat there, personating Jack to my own unbounded admiration.

"Squire Clermont in?" demanded a red-headed rustic, in a blue coat decorated with brass buttons, who made his appearance about noon.

"Yes, what's wanting?"

"Well, sir," answered the rustic, awkwardly twirling his hat round, "we'd like to have you come up to Shinesville next week, and deliver a lecture to our Young Men's Association, and—"

"Twenty-five dollars and expenses paid," remarked I, at a venture, with an air of such exquisite assurance that the negotiator was completely at my mercy.

"Very well, sir. The Secretary of the association will forward you a regular invitation, and—"

"Good day, sir," said I, briskly rubbing my hands, as another individual came in, and he edged out.

"Jack can't complain at this way of transacting business," was my internal reflection, while my last visitor was hemming and hawing preparatory to introducing his business.

"You are Mr. Clermont, sir, I suppose?"

"What is your business with me, my friend?" said I, amiably.

"Well, I'm glad I've got you at home for once," was the answer, with fiendish satisfaction. "I'd be very much obleeged if you'd pay this 'ere bill."

He handed me a crumpled piece of paper—a bill for something or other, I didn't know or care what, excepting that the sum total was twenty dollars, which I paid, with my exultation considerably toned down. Why couldn't I have said that I wasn't Jack, and didn't know when Jack would be at home?

My most interesting adventure was yet to happen. Just as I was beginning to yawn, and contemplate the propriety of shutting the office up for the day, and just as the brightness of a glorious Spring sunset was streaming in through the dusty panes of glass, the silence was broken by a light tap on the door.

"Come in!" I said, expecting to see a little boy with a letter, or a client, so I laid down the poker, and wheeled my chair round.

What was my astonishment, on the contrary, to behold a tall, slender young lady, with a fresh brown complexion, just tinged with a healthy pink, and hazel eyes, that appeared perfectly ready either to sparkle into brilliant laughter or melt into misty tears.

There she stood and there I sat. I never had heard of Jack Clermont having any female clients, and, consequently, it took me several seconds to recover, as it were, mental equilibrium. Then I sprang up and politely offered her the only chair in the office, while I seated myself on the wood box.

"Mr. Clermont?" she asked, softly—a very sweet, musical sort of voice, I noticed, even through all my pertrubation.

"I shall be happy to be of service to you, madam."

Who would have supposed it? The young wood nymph didn't want a divorce from her husband (that is, taking it for granted she had happened to have such an appendage), nor did she desire to quarrel with her neighbor's boundary fence, nor the stray cattle who had depredated in the corn-fields. Not at all—she merely wanted a certificate to teach a district school, and the other trustee had sent her to Mr. Clermont to be examined.

Here was a pretty kettle of fish for a bashful young man, who was sailing under false colors. How was I to know whether she was qualified to be a school teacher or not? And how was I to get myself out of this embarrassing business unless by running away, and beating an ignominious retreat through the back door into the woods.

"Never!" quoth I to myself. "I'll die at my post sooner, even if forty thousand school teachers come after certificates."

"Sir," faltered the young lady.

"What is your name, ma'am?" I demanded, in a business like manner, drawing a sheet of paper towards me and dipping my pen in the inkstand.

"Jessie Gray, sir."

I knew I couldn't stand the arch, half-mischievous twinkle of those brown eyes if I looked at her too often; so I went firmly on:

"How old are you?"

"Eighteen, this month."

"Eighteen, hey?"

I wrote it down and hesitated a minute. What next to ask her I had no more idea than the tongs in the corner. I wished Jack would come home and catechise his own brown-eyed school-teacher—no, I didn't either!

"What do you know?" I asked.

"Oh! plenty of things," responded the fair candidate, demurely. (Confound these women—how quickly they discover when you are at a disadvantage!) "I can sew, and knit, and mend stockings, and make pies, and—"

I tried hard to frown magisterially, as I saw the roguish dimple playing around her rosebud mouth, and interrupted her catalogue with the stern query:

"I mean what are your educational qualifications?"

Jessie looked at me like a startled bird, the mouth beginning to quiver and the hazel orbs to melt and swim. I moved uneasily on the woodbox, and two or three knotty pine logs rolled down around my ankles.

"Come, now, don't be frightened!" I expostulated, rubbing my bruised extremities. "Don't, please! All I want to know is, can you say the multiplication table, and cast up interest, and all that sort of thing?"

"Yes, sir," faltered Jessie.

"Let me see—which school is it you wish to teach?" said I, half aloud, pretending to forget what I had never known.

"At Elm Grove, sir," said Jessie, meekly.

"Elm Grove? Why, my child, there are scholars there twice your age and size, and as unruly as aboriginal savages! Have you duly considered the consequences of the step you are about to take?"

"I have, sir," she answered, the long wet lashes sweeping her flushed cheek; "but I am very poor, and it is necessary for me to earn my daily bread."

I set my teeth firmly together at the idea of that delicate young creature in the tumble down hovel at Elm Grove, in company with dog-eared spelling books and dinner baskets.

"Miss Gray—" I commenced, emphatically.

Here—it invariably happened so in [illegible]—What possessed Jack Clermont to [illegible] the door at that moment? Why [illegible] he have stayed just five minutes [illegible]?

"Please favor me with [illegible] Gray," I stammered, hurriedly. "The certificates are not printed yet. I will [illegible] about them in a day or two."

When the quiet brown dress [illegible] from the room, I discovered [illegible] that the crimson glory was fading [illegible] from the west, and things were looking [illegible] dismal to welcome the noisy entrance of my friend.

"Well, my boy, what luck have you had in keeping office to-day?"

Jack tossed a fresh supply of logs on the fire, and threw himself into the chair where she had just sat—the thoughtless savage!

I informed him briefly of my professional [illegible], laying particular stress on the lecture engagement, and slurring over the little affair of the bill, for which I had a receipt in full.

"All right," said Jack, in his cheery, jovial voice, that sounded like a [illegible] of wind in a forest. "Why, [illegible] a fine lawyer, Campford! But you have not told me about the pretty girl that was coming out as I drove up—what did she want?"

"O, she was after a certificate to teach school up in Elm Grove. I say, Jack, this school-teaching branch must be a rather delicate piece of business with you."

"Not generally," said Jack. "But what did you do? Give her a certificate?"

"No," said I, thoughtfully.

"Why not? Didn't I invest you with full powers?"

"Because," said I, deliberately rising from my wood box, and stretching my six feet of humanity to their altitude, "because, Jack, I mean to marry that girl."

"Campford, are you insane?"

"No; I think not."

"But you never saw her before."

"Well, what then? She suits me exactly. I never knew exactly what kind of wife I wanted, and now I am fully convinced."

"But suppose she won't have you?"

"She will, or I'll know the reason why."

Clermont burst into a laugh.

"Well, Campford, all I have to say is, go ahead, and may Cupid speed you."

I acted upon his communication and called on Miss Jessie, the next day, to tell her that the certificates would certainly be ready at a certain date. Then I found it necessary to call several more times to tell her why they were delayed from date to date. So that it was well into April before I strode up the walk leading to the door of Mrs. Gray's cottage, one golden evening, with a bunch of azaleas in my hand, and the tardy pieces of parchment under my arm. Of course Jessie had long since discovered that I was not the trustee, but it did not materially affect our friendly relations.

"Well, Miss Jessie, here is the certificate!"

She uttered a little exclamation of delight and held out her hand. I intercepted it half way by a masterly coup d'etat.

"I wouldn't avail myself of it, Miss Jessie. I believe you can do better."

"How?"

"Marry me."

Do you ask what answer was made? I have no very distinct recollection of the precise words. I can only remember a sunset more goldenly radiant by far than I had ever seen—the faint odor of spring blossoms in the air, and my head bent down to catch the low whispers of the fair lips that were hidden against my beating heart. I think, however, its general purport was favorable, for Mrs. Campford—the pretty woman yonder who is wondering why I don't come to breakfast—has never regretted she did not take charge of that school at Elm Grove.

Ossian E. Dodge has been quietly moving in our midst for a few days back, says the San Francisco Call, ruminating over the things he has seen and heard in California, with a view of putting it within the covers of a book. If California and men, women and things pertaining to the Golden State are not handed down to posterity it will not be for the want of historians. Every man and woman of any literary pretensions whatever, who has ever set foot on our shore, is at once seized with an irresistible impulse to fill about two or three hundred pages with an account of it.

LAWS OF OREGON.

Acts passed at the Third Regular Session of the Legislative Assembly.

AN ACT to prohibit the selling or giving of intoxicating liquors to minors without the written consent of parents or guardians.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon:

Section 1. That if any person shall sell, give, or cause to be sold or given any intoxicating liquor to any minor under eighteen years of age in this State without first obtaining the consent of one of such minor's parents or guardians in writing, except for medical or mechanical purposes, such person shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars, or be imprisoned in the County Jail not less than six months, or both, at the discretion of the Court. A Justice's Court has jurisdiction of the crime herein defined.

Sec. 2. All moneys arising from fines under this act shall be paid into the county school fund of the county where the offense was committed.

Approved, October 21st, 1864.

AN ACT to increase the revenue of the State.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon:

Section 1. That the annual tax hereafter to be levied in this State, to defray the current expenses of the State, shall be five mills on the dollar of all taxable property, and in addition thereto a poll tax of one dollar, shall be assessed on and paid by each and every male person over twenty-one and under fifty years of age.

Sec. 2. The act entitled "An act to increase the revenue of the State," approved, October 17th, 1862, is hereby repealed.

Approved, October 22d, 1864.

AN ACT to prevent those who have been engaged in rebellion, or have aided therein from voting.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon, as follows:

Section 1. That no person shall be entitled to vote at any State or county election in this State who has been directly engaged in the rebellion of the so-called Southern Confederacy, by bearing arms, furnishing supplies, or in any other way.

Sec. 2. That whenever at any general or special election in this State any person offering to vote is challenged by another voter, for the reason that he has been engaged in furthering the interests of the rebellion, as set forth in section 1 of this act, the judges of election shall administer the following oath: "I, A. B., do solemnly swear or affirm that I have never been engaged directly in this rebellion of the Confederate States, or aided the same either by bearing arms myself in the service of said rebellion, or encouraging others to do so, or by furnishing the officers of said Confederate States, money or other material means, so help me God;" and if the party refuse to take said oath, his vote shall be rejected.

Sec. 3. The oath prescribed by this act shall not be required of persons not citizens of the United States: Provided, however, that nothing in this act shall be so construed as to deprive any person of his rights under the Amnesty Proclamation of President Lincoln, [illegible] this right can be established.

Approved, October 21st, 1864.

[illegible] Plantation Bitters [illegible]

EDWARD WOUNALL.

The following is from the manager of the Union Home School for the Children of Volunteers:

HAVEMEYER MANSION, FIFTY-SEVENTH ST.,
New York, August 2, 1863.

DR. DRAKE: Your wonderful Plantation Bitters have been given to some of our little children, suffering from weakness and weak lungs, with most happy effect. One little girl, in particular, with pains in her head, loss of appetite, and daily wasting consumption, on whom all medical skill had been exhausted, has been entirely restored. We commenced with a teaspoonful of Bitters a day. Her appetite and strength rapidly increased, and she is now well.

Respectfully,
MRS. O. M. DEVOE.

"* * I owe much to you, for I verily believe the Plantation Bitters have saved my life.

REV. W. H. WAGGONER, Madrid, N. Y."

"* * Thou wilt send me two bottles more of thy Plantation Bitters. My wife has been greatly benefited by their use. Thy friend, ASA CURRIN, Philadelphia, Pa."

"* * I have been a great sufferer from dyspepsia, and had to abandon preaching. * * The Plantation Bitters have cured me.

REV. J. S. CATHORN, Rochester, N. Y."

"* * Send us twenty-four dozen more of your Plantation Bitters, the popularity of which is daily increasing with the guests of our house.

SYKES, CHADWICK & CO.,
Proprietors Willard's Hotel, Washington, D. C."

"* * I have given the Plantation Bitters to hundreds of our disabled soldiers with the most astonishing effect.

G. W. ANDREWS,
Superintendent Soldiers' Home, Cincinnati, O."

"* * The Plantation Bitters have cured me of liver complaint, of which I was laid up prostrate and had to abandon my business.

H. B. KINGSLEY, Cleveland, O."

"* * The Plantation Bitters have cured me of a derangement of the kidneys and urinary organs that has distressed me for years. It acts like a charm.

C. C. MOORE, 254 Broadway, N. Y."

&c. &c. &c.

The Plantation Bitters make the weak strong, the languid brilliant, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya Bark, Wintergreen, Sassafras, Roots, Herbs, &c., all preserved in perfectly pure St. Croix Rum.

S. T.—1860.—X.

Persons of sedentary habits troubled with weakness, lassitude, palpitation of the heart, lack of appetite, distress after eating, torpid liver, constipation, &c., deserve to suffer if they will not try them.

They are recommended by the highest medical authorities, and are warranted to produce an immediate beneficial effect. They are exceedingly agreeable, perfectly pure and harmless.

NOTICE.—Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters in bulk or by the gallon, is a swindler and impostor. It is put up only in our patent log cabin bottle. Beware of bottles refilled with imitation deleterious stuff for which several persons are already in prison. See that every bottle has our private United States Stamp over the cork unmutilated, and signature on steel-plate side label. Sold by respectable dealers throughout the habitable globe.

"CONSTITUTION WATER,"

THE ONLY REMEDY FOR DISEASES OF THE

BLADDER, KIDNEYS,

Gravel, Dropsical Swellings,

GENITAL DEBILITY, ETC.

THE ASTONISHING SUCCESS WHICH HAS ATTENDED this invaluable medicine renders it the most valuable one ever discovered. No language can convey an adequate idea of the immediate and almost miraculous change which it occasions in the debilitated and shattered system. In fact, it stands unrivalled as a remedy for the permanent cure of the maladies above-mentioned, [illegible]

DIABETES, IMPOTENCY, LOSS OF MUSCULAR ENERGY,
PHYSICAL PROSTRATION,
INDIGESTION,
SEMINAL WEAKNESS,
GLEET, FLUOR ALBUS,

And in every disease any way connected with the disorder or decay of the Procreative Function. Persons who are in a state of [illegible] of any weakness, should take the

CONSTITUTION WATER,

[illegible] broken down by excess, weak by nature, or impaired by sickness, the unstrung and relaxed organization is at once braced, revivified and built up. Well may this celebrated medicine be called the

MEDICAL WONDER!

The stooping, trembling victim of depression and debility becomes a new man; he stands erect, he moves with a firm step; his mind, which was previously sunk in gloom of an almost idiotic apathy, becomes bright and active, and he goes forth regenerated, conscious of new vigor. The medicine reaches the CONSTITUTION itself, and restores it to its normal condition.

IRRITATION OF THE NECK OF THE BLADDER, INFLAMMATION OF THE KIDNEYS, AND CATARRH OF THE BLADDER,
STRANGUARY AND BURNING, OR PAINFUL URINATING,
CALCULUS, GRAVEL,
BRICK DUST DEPOSIT, AND MUCOUS
OR MILKY DISCHARGE AFTER URINATING.

For these diseases it is truly a sovereign remedy, and too much cannot be said in its praise. A single dose has been known to relieve the most urgent symptoms. TRY IT in these cases, and you will ever give praise to

CONSTITUTION WATER,

Males or Females,

Are you troubled with that distressing pain in the small of the back, and through your hips? CONSTITUTION WATER will relieve you like magic.

Certificate of Dr. Hayes.

It is well known that the Medicinal effect of Protoxide of Iron is lost by even a very brief exposure to air, and that to maintain a solution of Protoxide of Iron, without further oxidation, has been deemed impossible.

In the Peruvian Syrup, this desirable point is attained by combination in a way before unknown; and this solution may replace all the proto-carbonates, citrates and tartrates of the Materia Medica.

IODINE WATER.

IODINE WATER IS THE MOST IMPORTANT DIScovery of modern chemistry, and it is impossible to overestimate its influence as a remedial agent. Iodine has been considered the most useful article in Materia Medica, and many of the most scientific and practical chemists and physicians have investigated its effects upon the human system. It is adapted to the

HEART,
LIVER, KIDNEYS,
DIGESTIVE ORGANS and GLANDULAR SYSTEM,

and to have great control over

SCROFULOUS AFFECTIONS.

Notwithstanding the great ability which have been devoted to its investigation, it was almost useless, until Dr. Henry Anders, a physician and chemist of New York, after years of research and experiment, discovered a chemical process which enabled him to dissolve without a solvent. This was considered impossible by the scientific world. It is attested by certificates of analysis from Dr. J. R. Chilton, of this city, and Prof. Booth, U. S. Mint, Philadelphia. The announcement of this discovery was so highly appreciated by the Faculty that it was published in the Medical Journals, and its use recommended to practitioners, see "American Medical Monthly," July 2, 1856, page 76.

PURE IODINE IN PURE WATER.

This valuable medicine is now available to the public for the cure of Scrofula, in its manifold forms, Consumption, Cancer, Heart, Liver and Kidney Diseases, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Nervous Affections, Dyspepsia, Bronchitis, etc.

AS A TONIC,

Its operation is evinced by strengthening the digestive organs and increasing the appetite. The nutrition of the body is the result of the employment of Iodine. The patient recovers flesh, strength and color, hitherto pale, relaxed and feeble, he becomes full, strong and fluid.

Full directions accompany each bottle.

Sold by all Druggists. Price, $1 per bottle. Prepared by Dr. H. Anders & Co., Physicians and Chemists, New York.

ALLEN'S
LUNG BALSAM!

The Remedy for Curing

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS,
Asthma, Croup,

Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect, that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS' TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction, even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION. IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies), or affect the head, as it contains no opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if only taken in time.

Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

LE DOYEN'S
SARSAPARILLA, YELLOW DOCK
—AND—
IODINE ALTERATIVE
FOR THE CONSTIUTION.

CLEANSE THE BLOOD.

WITH corrupt, disordered or vitiated Blood you must be sick all over. It may burst out in pimples or sores, or in some active disease, or it may merely keep you listless, depressed and good for nothing. But you cannot have good health while your blood is impure. Sarsaparilla purges out these impurities and stimulates the organs of life into vigorous action, restoring the health and repelling disease. Hence it rapidly cures a variety of complaints which are caused by impurities of the blood, such as Scrofula or King's Evil, Tumors, Ulcers, Sores, Eruptions, Pimples, Blotches, Boils, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter or Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ring Worm, Cancer or Cancerous Tumors, Sore Eyes, Female Diseases, such as Retention, Irregularity, Suppression, Whites, Sterility, Syphilis or Venereal Liver Complaints and Heart Diseases.

Blood and Liver.

This valuable Medicine is now available to the public for the cure of

SCROFULA, CONSUMPTION, RHEUMATISM, CANCER,
HEART, LIVER AND KIDNEY DISEASES,
NEURALGIA, NERVOUS AFFECTIONS, BRONCHITIS,
DYSPEPSIA, &c.

AS A TONIC,

its operations are evinced by strengthening the digestive organs and increasing the appetite. In cases of Dyspepsia, Emaciation and Debility, an increased nutrition of the body is the result of the employment of Iodine. The patient recovers flesh, strength and color, hitherto pale, relaxed and feeble, he becomes full, strong and fluid.

Are you sick, feeble and complaining? Are you out of order, with your system deranged and your feelings uncomfortable? These symptoms are often the prelude to serious illness. Some fit of sickness is creeping upon you, and should be averted by a timely use of the right remedy. Take Le Doyen's Sarsaparilla, and cleanse out the disordered system—purify the blood, and let the fluids move on unobstructed in health again.

AS A LITHONTRIPTIC,

it has no equal; being chemically combined with Iodine, it possesses in a high degree the power of dissolving stone in the Bladder, and urators of the kidneys, preventing gravel formation and enlargement of the prostrate, [illegible] irritation of the neck of the bladder, dropsy, etc.
